

Acknowledgments

This study was conducted with financial support from the United States Environmental Protection Agency through its agreement with the N.C. Department of Environment, Health and Natural Resources as part of the Albemarle-Pamlico Estuarine Study. Substantial resources were contributed by the University of North Carolina Sea Grant College Program in staff time, equipment and operations. Special thanks go to Dr. B.J. Copeland, director of UNC Sea Grant.

Considerable contribution was provided by several institutions, agencies and individuals. Glenn Harbeck and the firm of Edward D. Stone Jr. and Associates contributed enormously by bringing to the project their coastal planning expertise and creativity. I am grateful to the staff of the Center for Geographic Information and Analysis for their professionalism and friendliness in completing a task that proved to be greater than any of us had predicted. I would particularly like to thank Karen Siderelis and Tom Tribble for their enthusiasm and Zsolt Nagy for his expertise and humor.

My most special thanks go to those who contributed ideas and time for no compensation. Ms. Lynn Phillips, planning director for Carteret County, gave tirelessly to the project in her encouragement and with her knowledge of the county. I am also grateful to Daniel F. McLawhorn of the N.C. Department of Justice for helping plant the seed for the project; to David Owens of the North Carolina Institute of Government for his expertise and support; to John Crew of the N.C. Division of Coastal Management for his time and advice; to Jeanette Brockington for her assistance with legal research; to C.R. Edgerton of UNC Sea Grant for his editorial assistance; and to Debra Lynch and Julie Snyder, both of UNC Sea Grant, for staff assistance.

I want to extend a special thank you to the members of the project's Advisory Board, which represented the user groups of Carteret County's waters. These people gave of their time out of love and concern for one of the county's most valuable resources. The individuals and the groups they represent are : Dewey Bordeaux, recreational boating; Don Brock, coastal development; Irv Hooper, environmental organization; Kenneth Kirkman, coastal development; Don McMahan, shipping; Clifton Moss, recreational fishing; Tom Piner, military; William "Billy" Smith, commercial fishing; Carl Tilghman, local government; Paul Warren, local government; Clinton Willis, commercial fishing.
